GETS BLACK HAND LETTER BY MAIL

William Wolfe Receives Anonymous
Epistle in Which he is Threatened
With Rough Treatment.

COAT OF TAR IS PROMISED HIM

He is Given Two Weeks to Move
From Neighborhood—Wolfe
Will Remain.

That amateur black hand artists are working in Rushville is evidenced by the letter which William Wolfe of North Oliver street has received. In the communication dire threats are made against him including the application of a coat of tar and the intimation that something might be added. Mr. Wolfe is given two weeks in which to move from that "end of town." Mr. Wolfe suspects who sent the letter and he is planning to take steps to put the investigation in the hands of the postal authorities.

The letter is very crudely written and poor spelling is common all through the epistle. At the top a miniature hand is pictured. It is to be supposed that the picture is to represent a black hand. At the top of the communication is written the word "Notice" and just below that is printed "black hand."

The anonymous letter writer accuses Will Wolfe, to whom the letter is addressed, and George Wolfe, of the theft of seven dollars from George King who lives in that neighborhood. Mr. Wolfe says that King lost that amount of money, but that he never accused anyone of stealing it. It is further stated that George Wolfe will also be treated to a coat of tar along with Will Wolfe. It is intimated that feathers might be added if the case demanded.

The recipient of the unsigned letter feels sure that he knows who wrote and mailed the letter. He suspects two women who live a few squares from his home. He says that he has never had any trouble with them, but that they have worried him considerably in recent years. Mr. Wolfe refuses to make their names public, but says that he will give their names to the proper authorities and ask that they be prosecuted.

According to Mrs. Wolfe's story, an anonymous letter was received by her husband on May 6, 1908. In that letter it was asked that Mr. Wolfe leave his wife and come to the writer. It is believed by Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe that the same two women wrote that one.

The recipient of the strange communication declares that he will be prepared for the writer or writers of the letter if they will come to his home and make similar threats. He asserts that he was born and reared in Rushville and has lived here about thirty-nine years. He says that he is not ashamed of his reputation and that he is willing to meet his accusers face to face and prove his innocence. He stoutly denies that he had anything to do with the theft and reiterates that he does not need to steal money to live. Mr. Wolfe is a finisher in the Park furniture factory.

The following is the contents of the anonymous letter:

"We give you two weeks notice that you will have to move out of this end of town or we will give you a coat of tar and meby something else. George King lost $7.00 Dollars and and George Wolfe is in to gether. And you and him both will get it. There has been lots of robben done here and we have had a detective at work on you and him so you had better get out in 2 weeks or you both will get wats comink to you. 12 of us."

VOLUNTEERS SWEAT TODAY

Work Diligently to Put Backs on Circus Seats.

More good muscle was wasted and more perspiration flowed at the tabernacle today than has been the case since the building was first started. Backs were built on the "circus" seats today by volunteer laborers and they found the task a difficult one. Comfortable seats are promised for tonight's meeting. If the work is not all finished today, it will be completed tomorrow.

WAS CRAZY DRUNK; WANTED TO FIGHT

James Dorsey of Mays Created Disturbance in Theatre and Caused Officers Trouble.

RELEASED THIS MORNING

James Dorsey was arrested last night for being drunk and when arraigned this morning was allowed to go free on a promise to "beat it" from the city. Dorsey, who claims to have been a concrete worker came here yesterday from Mays and proceeded to get "tight." Last night he was put out of several of the theatres because he became boisterous. He was told by the police to go home and was given every chance to get away but instead of doing so he continued to raise a disturbance. Finally policeman McAllister and Marshal Harlow took a hand and started to arrest the man. Dorsey resisted and caused the officers no little trouble. This morning he said he had suffered a sunstroke recently and accounted for his crazy actions with this time worn excuse.

CITY DETERMINED TO HAVE LAW SUIT

W. E. Muse of Heine Boiler Company
Visits Officials But No Settlement is Arranged.

THREATENS A SUIT AT ONCE

It seems more imminent than ever that the city will have another damage suit to fight if the threats of representatives of the Heine Boiler Company of St. Louis, Mo., are to be considered. W. E. Muse, a representative of the company, was here yesterday in conference with City Attorney Howard Barrett in regard to the case. The members of the city council were consulted with a view to arranging a settlement of the $150 claim which the company has against the city. After the consultation with the city attorney, Mr. Muse said that he saw no way to close the disagreement without bringing a suit in the federal court. As much as the city seems to desire a peaceful settlement its representatives seem more than anxious to participate the administration into a law suit.

It will be remembered that the Heine Boiler Company installed the boilers at the plant this winter. The city alleges that it was a part of the contract to install breeching for the price the contract was let. The company thinks differently. The city bought the breeching elsewhere and now wishes to deduct the $150.00 from the contract price.

FARM HAND TOOK HORSE AND BUGGY

Frank Brown Stole Valuable Outfit of Clarence Daubenspeck, While Family Was at Wedding.

GOT SMALL SUM OF MONEY

Was Found This Morning at Davis
Livery Stable by Sheriff Bebout and Returned to Owner.

Clarence Daubenspeck, living about three miles northeast of the city, had a valuable horse stolen last night by a farm hand, giving his name as Frank Brown. The horse was found this morning at the Davis livery stable, but the man has not been seen.

Mr. and Mrs. Daubenspeck attended the Mauzy-Bishop wedding last night, and while there, Brown took the horse and buggy, together with about $1.50 in money, a revolver and a small clock and drove to this city. He arrived here about eleven o'clock and went to the Davis stable, where he told them to keep the outfit for him until this afternoon. Brown said he was going to Indianapolis and would return for the rig. He asked that the horse be well fed and be given the best of care. The men at the stable told him that the last car had gone to Indianapolis and Brown started for a hotel to remain over night. This was the last seen of the man.

Mr. Daubenspeck never missed the horse and buggy until early this morning. He went to the barn and failed to see the horse or his hired hand. On investigating, Mr. Daubenspeck saw that the man had never reired and his room was not disturbed. On discovering his loss, he immediately called Sheriff Clata Bebout, who made a round of the livery stables here and had the outfit located inside of half an hour after he had the call.

Little or nothing is known of Brown. He first came to work for Foss Brooks, about three weeks ago. At that time the man said he formerly lived in Manila, but had not been there for about six years. Brown went to work for Mr. Daubenspeck, Tuesday, and in the short time he was there seemed to be a willing worker and caused no trouble whatever. Sheriff Bebout, who formerly lived in Walker township, says he does not remember the man, and gives little credit to his story.

It is very probable that no effort will be made to capture the man as Mr. Daubenspeck is out only a small amount and again has his horse and buggy.

DR. REA IS IMPROVING

Falmouth Physician May Yet Recover After Operation.

Although Dr. Charles Rea of Falmouth, who underwent an operation at the Sexton sanatorium one day recently, is not out of danger, he is very much improved today and hopes are being entertained for his recovery. He rallied considerably in the last thirty-six hours. Previous to that time all hope for his recovery had been abandoned and his relatives had been summoned to his bedside. His bowels have been paralyzed, but that condition has been done away with to some extent.

PLAN TO PUNISH LAW VIOLATORS

Rushville People Who do Not Paint
Gasoline Cans Red May Have Pay Penalty.

PAINT IS SOLD FAST TODAY

Standard Oil Company Representative Says Enforcement of Statute is to be Started Soon.

Rushville people should look to their gasoline cans if they would not pay a fine of not less than five dollars or more than fifty dollars or be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of ninety days or both. A law enacted by the last general assembly provides that all gasoline receptacles shall be painted red and red they must be. Blue, green or yellow will not do. It must be red.

A representative of the Standard Oil Company was here today and said that plans were being made to catch all violators of the statute very shortly. He said that it was best to paint all cans, bottles or other gasoline receptacles red at once and not be liable to any of the fines as specified in the law. He said that no effort had yet been made to seek out violators, but that a campaign in that direction would be started very shortly.

Several Rushville people have already complied with the law. A few were seen today by the oil company's representative and already the sale of red paint has grown larger. A number of people painted their cans and bottles red today. Already several garage owners who keep gasoline in large quantities, have painted their containers red.

The law not only applies to gasoline receptacles, but to containers of benzine, naphtha and kerosene. The provisions of the act do not apply to barrels, casks, packages, cans or other receptacles with a capacity of more than fifty gallons.

ANOTHER BLOCK SUGGESTED

Continuous Pavement Could be Made by Improving Seventh.

Since Perkins street will in all probability be paved as far north as Seventh street, it has been suggested that the residents of Seventh street between Main and Perkins petition for a similar improvement. In that case a continuous paved street would be made as the block would connect Perkins and Main streets. It has been said that the contracts for both that and the Perkins street work could be let at the same time and thus not entail any additional trouble. There are only seven property holders in the block.

LOCAL DELEGATE ATTENDS

Elmer Hungerford in Ft. Wayne For Sunday School Convention.

Elmer Hungerford, president of the county Sunday school association, went to Ft. Wayne today where he will attend the State Sunday school convention which will be in session for four days. Mr. Hungerford is a member of the board of directors and also a member of the executive committee of the State association. The meeting this year promises to surpass any of the sessions held in the forty-seven years of the association's existence.

WOMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Martha McCrory, Sister of Rush
County Men, Expires.

Mrs. Martha McCrory, fifty-three years old, sister of Perry and Robert McCrory of near Glenwood, died suddenly at her home in Connersville. Mrs. McCrory had been in poor health for some time, but her death was not expected at this time. The immediate cause of the demise was the bursting of a blood vessel in her brain. Besides the two brothers in this county, Mrs. McCrory is survived by three sisters, Miss Lilly McCrory and Mrs. Hester Woodcock of Connersville and Mrs. Margaret Mount of Bluffton, and one brother, John McCrory of Tipton.

AUDITOR'S BOOKS ARE FOUND CORRECT

Field Examiners Owen and Newlin
Leave After Three Weeks' Work in the County.

THEY EXAMINE TWO OFFICES

Walter Owen and Charles Newlin, field examiners, working under the direction of the State Board of Accounts, left this afternoon after three weeks work in the local court house. They have been examining the books in the county auditor's and county treasurer's office for last year. Before they left they told County Auditor Jesse Stone that he had been given a clean bill. It will be remembered that they found Alvan Moor's books correct about a week ago. Mr. Moor retired from the county treasurer's office a week ago. Mr. Moor retired from the county treasurer's office the first of this year.

Since the State Board of Accounts has been created about four thousand dollars have been paid out of Rush county's coffers to field examiners and so far shortages amounting to a few hundred dollars are all that have been refunded.

TWO MORE VICTIMS OF COLD BOILED HAM

Fred Conde and Robert Helm Suffer
With Acute Ptomaine Poisoning
Today.

OTHER PATIENTS IMPROVING

Two more victims of acute ptomaine poisoning as the result of eating cold boiled ham were reported today. Fred Conde ate some ham for supper last night and before midnight he became violently ill. He was confined to his bed all morning and was not feeling much better this afternoon. Robert Helm, the son of George Helm, was sick this morning from the same ailment. All of the eleven persons who were ill for the same reason Wednesday evening and yesterday are reported to be improving and all, it is thought by the attending physicians, will recover.

The county school superintendents of Indiana will meet June 27 and 28 in the office of the State superintendent of public instruction, Charles A. Greathouse, to discuss the next school year and get acquainted. Many of the superintendents have just been elected. Mr. Greathouse will give the superintendents a public reception in the State House. Refreshments will be served.

COATS ARE HOT DECLARES ORR

Evangelist Says Men May Attend
Meeting Without Them, if They Wear a Shirt.

THAT'S NECESSARY REQUISITE

"The Devil Detective" Will be Topic
For Men's and Boys' Meeting
Sunday Afternoon.

"I don't believe that I could preach so that you could endure it without any backs on those seats," said the Rev. W. W. Orr in opening the third meeting of the revival at the tabernacle last night. "I am authorized to announce that backs will be placed on them tomorrow so that you will find every convenience here." The evangelist alluded to the "circus" seats which fill the greater part of the tabernacle. Today backs were provided so that members of the audience will find it more comfortable at the coming meetings.

Evangelist Orr announced that he would conduct a special meeting for men and boys at the tabernacle Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. His subject at that time will be "The Devil Detective." The Rev. Mr. Orr also announced that no meeting would be conducted Saturday afternoon, but that one would take place at the usual time Saturday night. He said that he hoped for a crowd of men and boys that would fill the large tabernacle Sunday afternoon. The topic for this evening's sermon is "Work of the Holy Ghost Within a Man."

"I notice that the ladies left their hats at home tonight," continued the evangelist, "and I might as well mention now that you men may leave your coats at home. We are not going to be conventional here. If you do not wear your coats, all that I ask of you is that you have a shirt on. I once asked a man to take off his coat and he said he would if he had had a shirt on. So if all of you men wear your shirts you may leave your coats at home."

The crowd last night was as large as that of the opening night. The singing of the choir was even better as it is becoming well organized under the leadership of Singing Evangelist Ross. It is hoped by the leader and others that the whole space set off on the stage for the choir will be filled with singers tonight. Mrs. Ross, who plays the piano, sang a solo at the opening of the meeting last night. Mr. Ross accompanied her on the piano. Both are accomplished musicians.

The Rev. Orr took the raising of Lazarus from the dead as the scriptural topic for his sermon last night. He described the scenes from the Bible surrounding that familiar incident and pointed out that Christ said he was glad he was not present when Lazarus was near death. Evangelist Orr said that He wished to prove to the unbelievers that he could raise Lazarus from the dead. Evangelist Orr said that a minister who would make such an assertion during this day and age, when a member of his church was near death, would be ostracized and would never be allowed to preach another sermon. But Christ, he said, wished this method to prove his power. The evangelist said that some of His own disciples did not believe in him and it was necessary for Him to raise a man, who had been dead four days. Martha, the mother of Lazarus, Mr. Orr said, told Jesus not to attempt to raise her son from the dead.

"She did not limit the love of Jesus," continued the speaker, "but she did limit his power. She did believe that He loved the world, but she

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

WORSE THAN BULL FIGHTS.

(Muncie Press.)

The exercises held at the Speedway at Indianapolis in celebration of Memorial day were as uncivilized as the combats of the Roman arena of the bull fights of Spain and Mexico. Thousands of people were attracted to the Speedway by the certain prospect of seeing a few killings and maimings. From this standpoint the exhibition did not come up to expectations. However, 77,000 people paid gate admissions and several automobile companies were enabled by means of the races to work the newspapers of the country for a few million dollars' worth of free advertising, the show must be called a success. But what a way to celebrate Memorial day!

MR. GRAY BALKING

(Connersville News.)

They will be calling Congressman Finly Gray the "man better than his party" pretty soon, and history is full of the records of that class of political failures. True, if Mr. Gray would rise in his place in the House and give the country his reasons for balking he would, if they were consistent and reasonable, arouse some sympathy. But to run away to dodge voting or to ask to be excused when a question of great importance is under consideration, is not the way to impress the public that he is either courageous or sincere. Already some of Finly's friends at home are saying that if he is not going to act with the Democrats he should not have run on that ticket.

(Crawfordsville Journal.)

When it comes to bloodthirsty brutality and disregard for human life the modern automobile race has the Mexican bull fight beaten a city block. If the motor race serves any good purpose it hasn't been mentioned up to date.

SOUTH IS FOR RECIPROCITY

Cotton Men Cheer the President's Remarks.

CAME OUT STRONG FOR HIM

A Thunderous "Aye" Followed Question "Are We With the President?" Which Was Put at Close of Taft's Speech Before the Members of the Produce Exchange and Cotton Men at Banquet in New York.

New York, June 9.—As the guest of honor at the Hotel Astor of the Produce Exchange and the Interstate Cottonseed Crushers' association, President Taft enjoyed himself last night. There was no doubt that Mr. Taft found the evening a pleasant one, for the cotton men not only made it plain that they liked him immensely, but that they were strong for reciprocity. The southerners banged the tables, cheered every sentence of the president, and rose at the end of his speech to give a thunderous "aye" when one of their number put the question, "Are we with the president?"

Mr. Taft's appeal to the cotton men was characteristically direct. He told them he thought that reciprocity with Canada would be good business for them, that it would help them rather than injure, just as it would benefit rather than injure the farmers of the country. He asked them to get after their senators and let these legislators understand what their wishes were. The president explained also that the farmers' free list should not be tacked as an amendment onto the Canadian reciprocity bill, for the reason that it had no relevancy, and because it would drive away from the reciprocity bill enough votes to defeat the proposed agreement with Canada.

During the afternoon President Taft saw perhaps 150,000 Brooklyn Sunday school children, who were out on their annual parade, and what was just as important, they saw him. He streaked through miles of Brooklyn streets and wound up just before dusk at the Day Ridge home of the Crescent Athletic club in time for a lacrosse match and tea. He needed the tea, for it had been a dusty trip. The brightest spots on the resplendent uniform of Major Archie Butt had been so dimmed that he did not look like a presidential aide at all. Governor Dix and his staff, who came in only at the finish of the dusty ride, spent several minutes in the Crescent club before they presented themselves to the throng.

Must Take Its Chances.

Washington, June 9.—The senate finance committee has agreed to report to the senate without recommendation the bill for Canadian reciprocity.

WILL LOOK INTO IT

Former Secretary of State in For an Investigation.

Washington, June 9.—Former Secretary of State John W. Foster requested the house committee on expenditures in the state department to postpone until fall the threatened investigation of the payment out of the Boxer indemnity fund of an old general war claim, dating back to 1862, which amounted to about $360,000. Mr. Foster, as attorney for the claimant, is understood to have received a fee amounting to about $180,000.

The committee, after considering Mr. Foster's request, instructed Representative Hamlin of Missouri, its chairman, to inform Mr. Foster the committee could make no promise, but would investigate the affair whenever it saw fit to do so.

His Injuries Not Serious.

New York, June 9.—The three bullet wounds that W. E. D. Stokes received from two young women at whose flat he had called are not of such a nature as to cause alarm, according to the doctors who have charge of him. Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, the young women who shot Mr. Stokes, were arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to kill, and held without bail.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY LEADS TO TRAGEDY

Kentucky Young Woman Shot
While Out-Riding.

Louisville, Ky., June 9.—Miss Harriet Weatherby, a pretty school teacher of Middletown, is dying from a bullet wound inflicted while she was driving on a lonely country road with Lee Gibbs.

T. C. West, secretary-treasurer of the Kentucky Central Life and Accident company, was arrested in Louisville charged with the shooting.

According to Gibbs, a man stopped them in the road and demanded of the girl: "Give back my ring."

She did not answer and he drew a revolver and fired. West had passed the buggy in an automobile only a few minutes before the shooting.

Investigation developed that Miss Weatherby and her escort were victims of mistaken identity. West was in love with a Miss Gwathmey, living near Louisville. He had a rival. He went to the Gwathmey house looking for Miss Gwathmey and his rival and encountered Miss Weatherby and Lee Gibbs, mistaking them for the other couple.

Now Awaiting the Commission.

Havana, June 9.—The water inside the coffer dam around the wreck of the Maine has been reduced to five feet below the outside level, and the coffer dam is holding perfectly. There will be no more pumping until the arrival of the commission from the United States. Major Ferguson, the army engineer in charge, is highly pleased and confident that the leakage will be negligible.

THOUGH TOWN VOTED WET IT IS TO BE DRY

Commissioners Decline to Grant Licenses.

Bloomington, Ind., June 9.—After considering the seven applications for licenses which were placed before them the report that the Monroe county commissioners made was: "On account of conscientious reasons two of the members of the board refuse to vote for liquor licenses and all the applications are refused." Commissioners Lyman Dunlap and John C. Clay refused to vote for license under any circumstances.

The commissioners made their finding after they had considered the applications and heard the testimony as to the good character of the applicants. A motion for dismissal of the applications made by the attorney for the temperance people was overruled by the commissioners before the applications were considered, and it was thought by the crowd in the commissioners' room that the licenses would be granted. Most of the men applying for licenses had their places ready to open. The saloon men will take the matter to the circuit court. Under the law it will be ten days before the circuit court can take the case up.

DOUBLE INDICTMENTS

Danville, Ind., June 9.—The grand jury of the Hendricks circuit court has returned indictments against James Harvey Moon for the murder, May 26, of Constable Oliver W. Wilhoite and Mrs. George Baldock. Moon has been arraigned for the Wilhoite murder, and at once entered a plea of self-defense. Coroner G. G. Allred has not filed his verdict in the two cases, but will do so in a few days.

Buying Up-to-Date Goods

No woman likes to feel that she is buying old, shopworn, out-of-date goods.

She wants goods which are new and fresh, especially in articles of wear and ornamentation.

The store in which you trade largely determines what kind of goods you are buying.

If you trade in stores which do a small amount of business, you may rest assured that your merchant is always carrying goods which are two or three seasons out-of-date.

Such a merchant depends upon people coming to his store and searching through the stock to find out what they want.

The bright advertising merchant goes at it in another way.

He doesn't wait for people to dig through the stock to find his goods, but he uses space in the newspapers to tell all the people about his goods.

Advertising makes it easy for them to know about his wares, brings him immediate buyers and he sells his stock over and over again.

It doesn't get a chance to get stale—out-of-date.

Therefore, if you want to feel that the goods you are buying are right in style, quality and price, you should patronize the merchants who advertise.

Lesson XI.—Second Quarter, For June 11, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxx, 13-27—Memory Verses, 18-20—Golden Text, I Sam. xvi, 7—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This Hezekiah, whose name signifies "the strength of Jehovah," was one of the best kings that reigned over the kingdom of Judah. In the sixth year of his reign the king of Assyria carried the ten tribes into captivity, as we shall learn more fully in next week's lesson (II Kings xix, 10-12). The king of Assyria threatened to do to Judah as he had done to Israel and wrote a blasphemous letter which Hezekiah spread before the Lord, and he and the prophet Isaiah prayed and cried to heaven, and the Lord sent an angel who smote in one night 185,000 of the Assyrian army (II Kings xix, 35; II Chron. xxxii, 19-21).

Abaz, the father of Hezekiah, had done very wickedly. He worshiped other gods, cut in pieces the vessels of the house of God, shut up the doors of the house of the Lord and made him altars in every corner of Jerusalem and in the cities of Judah. Therefore the Lord did bring Judah low because of him (II Chron. xxxiii, 19-25).

Hezekiah in the first month of the first year of his reign opened the doors of the house of the Lord and repaired them and set the priests and Levites at work to cleanse the temple, which they did in sixteen days. Then they offered sin offerings unto the Lord for all Israel, and burnt offerings, and thank offerings, and worshiped the Lord with gladness. "So the service of the house of the Lord was set in order, and Hezekiah rejoiced, and all the people, that God had prepared the people, for the thing was done suddenly" (chapter xxix, 3, 17, 24, 27, 31, 36).

The regular time to keep the Passover in the first month being past because of the time it took to cleanse the temple, it was determined to keep it in the second month, as was permitted in the law (Num. ix, 9-11). Proclamation was therefore made throughout all Israel from Dan to Beersheba that they should come to keep the Passover unto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem, for it was a long time since the feast had been kept (verses 1-5). The last of which we have a record was in the days of Joshua, when at Gilgal they kept it upon entering the land (Josh. v, 10). Before that there is a record of only two Passovers, one in Egypt and one a year later at Sinai.

After the time of our lesson we have only a record of two more in the Old Testament, the great one of Josiah and the one in the days of Ezra at the dedication of the temple after the return from Babylon (II Chron. xxxv, 18; Ez. vi, 19-22). We can scarcely think that these were the only Pass-overs kept, but these six are the only ones recorded. If we include the one that the Lord Jesus so greatly desired to keep with his disciples (Luke xxii), then we have a record of just seven great Passovers. Of the lessons for our own souls let us never forget the words, "When I see the blood I will pass over you." It was not the blood and something else, but simply and only the applied blood of the slain lamb that gave safety. See Lev. xvii, 11; Heb. ix, 22; Rev. i, 5, 6; v, 9, 10; vii, 14; Eph. i, 7.

Nothing can by any means add to the safety which is ours in Christ Jesus, but because of it may the Lord grant us a great appetite for the Lamb, and as He lived by the Father may we, eating Him, live by Him (John vi, 57). This call to all Israel to turn to the Lord might truly be spoken of as a last call to the ten tribes, for six years later they were carried captive by the king of Assyria. As the posts passed from city to city through Ephraim and Manasseh, even unto Zebulun, some laughed them to scorn and mocked them, but some humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem (verses 10, 11). Verse 12 seems to teach that God can bless only those who are willing that He should lay His hand upon them for good.

Until He shall come again in power and glory we cannot expect anything different from Acts xxviii, 24, "Some believed, and some believed not." Wheat and tares will grow together until the end of the age. Notwithstanding the rebellious ones a very great congregation assembled at Jerusalem to keep the Passover (verse 13). They cleansed the city of idolaters and killed the Passover and kept the feast not only for seven days, but so great was their joy because they had truly turned to the Lord and He had so blessed them that they kept the feast for another seven days. There was greater joy in Jerusalem than had been since the days of Solomon.

Hezekiah spoke comfortably or to the heart of all the Levites that taught the good knowledge of the Lord (verse 22, margin), and so he was greatly used of God in this revival. The Bible is a heart book, from the heart of God to the hearts of His people (Isa. xl, 1, 2, margin), and if His word does not reach our hearts with comfort and strength we should pray, "Give Thy servant a hearing heart" (I Kings iii, 9, margin). What a splendid record of this king is found in chapter xxxi, 20, 21, "He wrought that which was good and right and truth before the Lord his God. * * * He did it with all his heart and prospered."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week
Beginning June 11, 1911.

Topic.—Why I love Christ—I Pet. i, 3-25. (Honorary members' meeting.) Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

Peter is often called the apostle of hope. Hope occupies the central place in his writings, which faith does in those of Paul and love in those of John. But, while hope was a living power in the heart of the apostle, the grace of love also had a large place both in his heart and life. In his well known interview with the risen Lord he had been called upon three times to answer the question, "Lovest thou me?" and in each instance he had asserted that there existed in his heart the warmest affection for his Master and Lord. "Thou knowest that I love Thee," was his thrice repeated answer, and even in the Greek word used for love he expressed the depth and warmth of his love. Moreover, Peter recognized and commended the love which the Christians of Asia Minor, to whom he wrote, had for Jesus Christ. Though they had not seen His gracious face and had not known Him after the flesh, yet they loved Him—"whom, having not seen, ye love?" And why did they love Christ? For the same reasons that we and all who love Christ do so.

1. We love Christ because we know Him. It is true that it is love to one whom we have not seen with the physical sight, and yet we know Him through the study of His life while upon earth and by the inner knowledge of spiritual communion with Him. And "to know Him is to love Him." No one can rightly study the life of Christ and understand His mission into this world of sin and woe and look upon the sufferings which He endured that this mission might be fulfilled without having his heart go out to the Saviour in great and overwhelming love. And when to this knowledge through history there is added that which comes through experience by spiritual fellowship and communion with Him that love is immeasurably increased. Then we, too, can say:

Yet, though I have not seen and still Must rest in faith alone,
I love Thee, dearest Lord, and will,
Unseen, but not unknown.

2. We love Christ because He first loved us. "We love Him because He first loved us." This is the testimony of John, the beloved disciple and the apostle of love. And it finds a response in each and every loving Christian heart. It was Christ's love for us that led Him to die for us upon the cross, and therefore no one need ever doubt the love of Christ. Love thus manifested is above the realm of doubt. "Love begets love." Christ's love to us begets love in us, love for Him and love for those who are His. We all know from experience that it was the love of Christ for us that kindled within our breasts the flame of love for Christ, and nothing so revives a drooping love for Christ as to sit beneath the cross and to look upon His sufferings and to remember that He bore the cross and shame for us because He loved us.

TO HAVE GAURANTEED EGGS

Grocers Must Pay Fine for Keeping Stale Hen Fruit.

Starting June 1st the new egg law in Indiana took effect, which is "that any farmer, grocery keeper or shipper offering to sell or who has in his possession rotten or stale eggs is subject to a heavy fine." This will compel grocery keepers, hucksters and anybody else that buys eggs to handle them so as to get only fresh good eggs and every person who does not buy in this manner shall be prosecuted, is the warning sent out by H. E. Barnard, state food inspector in Indiana. Every grocery keeper must have a placard hung in his store reading: "We guarantee the eggs we sell."

The city council should think twice before taking the step that will involve the city in a long drawn out law suit for the small sum of $150. If the suit is once filed and tried it is very likely that it will cost the city many times that amount. It is the threat of the company's representatives that the suit will be filed in the Federal court in Cincinnati. In that event city officials as well as the superintendent of the water and light plant would be called to Cincinnati to testify in the case. It would take them away from their duties here and would entail a great expense. Besides it is the general opinion that the city is fighting a losing case and would in all probability have to pay for the breeching as well as the heavy costs in the case.

fields and, when asked where he was going, he replied that he did not know, but that the Lord summoned him.

The Rev. Mr. Orr created much fun by his description of the erection of the ark by Noah. He likened the building to present day things. He said that the newspapers ridiculed Noah, and the people shook their heads and decided that Noah's mind was not just right. But Noah felt the power of God and saw His glory because he believed in Him, the evangelist said. He said that one hundred and twenty years came and went before the flood came and then the people began to see why Noah was right.

The Rev. Mr. Orr rehearsed the story of Moses, who left the life of pomp and show in court to become a shepherd because he believed in the power of God. He recalled the transfiguration of Christ before Peter, James and John. "And if you would only believe in God," declared the evangelist, "great things will be wrought in Rushville. I do not believe the day of miracles has passed. You ask me if I believe the story of Jonah and the whale. I answer yes, that I do. You will see the miracles worked in your own town, in your families and in your hearts, if you will believe in His power."

Evangelist Orr said that Jesus was helpless before God when he went to the grave of Lazarus and said, "roll the stone away." He could not roll the stone away even though he could raise a man to life who had been dead four days, declared the evangelist. "So it is," continued Mr. Orr, "before we can see the glory of God in Rushville, we must roll some stones away. If I happen to hit you, you need not squirm for it's a sign that you are guilty."

"The first stone to be rolled away is that of prejudice. Take the prejudice out of some people and there would be little left of them. They are just bundles of prejudice. Why, some people have been prejudiced against me because I was born in the South. Why, dear people, I had nothing to do with that, but if I had I would have chosen South Carolina. Roll away that stone of prejudice."

"And that stone of criticism is one of the worst ones to roll away. We can not have a successful meeting until we eliminate that. My, but there are so many critics. Why I remember my little church down South—I have never said anything about it to its back that I never said to its face—it was impossible for a person to get into the church before his name had been presented to the elders. Then the applicant had to run them a foot race before he got into the church. I used to be as narrow too, I know how it is. I am criticised because I don't part my hair in the middle (incidentally Evangelist Orr has a bald head) and I expect that Jamieson hears the same criticism concerning himself. I am criticised because I do not wear a long-tail coat all the time. It takes no brains to criticise. Any man can take a hammer and tear down a house but not every man can build one. So if you can't boost the meeting, keep your mouth shut."

Evangelist Orr designated pride as the third stone which must be rolled away. He said that it was not the pride that placed a woman before a looking glass, but the pride that kept people from talking about the vital matter of soul saving to the lowest as well as the highest who have yet to be saved. He ventured that there were men and women of every class in the city who had never been consulted about their soul salvation.

Evangelist Orr said that the fourth stone, that of sectarianism, had been rolled away in Rushville before he ever came here. He complimented Rushville that such an excellent feeling of good fellowship existed among the members of the various churches.

The fifth stone, the unforgiving spirit, he said, was one of the worse stones to be removed before a revival meeting will be a success in Rushville. He said that people must do away with all malice, backbiting, hatefulness and other mean little practices that might injure the success of the meeting.

"The stone of ease and indifference is a very hard one to roll away," continued the Rev. Mr. Orr, "especially in warm weather. If every church member in Rushville would attend these meetings and talk up this revival; if every business man would close his store and say to his clerks, 'come on, let's attend to soul business this week, as it means more to us,' then Rushville would see such a religious upheaval that never happened here before. Yes, it will cost something to have a good revival, but you should be willing to pay the price."

Evangelist Orr said that the stone of unbelief was really the hardest stone to roll away. You don't believe in God, he said. He said that it must be believed that God loved the world. He declared that people must believe the Bible, he adding, "I believe her from lid to lid."

"Roll away every stone and let's win Rushville for Christ," exhorted the evangelist in closing. Evangelist Orr spoke to a small audience yesterday afternoon. The sermon was preached especially for church members. He asked that the church members lend their influence and power for the revival that it might be made a success. Mr. Ross sang a solo at the afternoon service.

AMUSEMENTS

The Airdome will show three pictures tonight. The first is a Yankee drama entitled "His Double Treasure." The other two are Americans entitled "Lucy's Lover," and "The Borrowed Flat." Both are comedies, both snappy, funny and good. Song, "Roses Mean You, to Me."

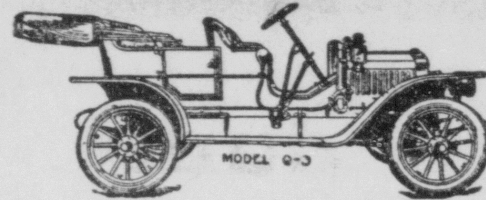

The Portola will have the usual change of program tonight. The first picture is a Gaumont film entitled "The Insurrecto," or "The Letter With the Red Seal." It is said to be a very dramatic picture and contains many sensational incidents. The other picture is a Vitagraph, "A Little Lad From Dixie." This film tells a story of the Civil war and several beautiful scenes are shown. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet has two good films for tonight's program. "At Bar V Ranch" is a Bison western drama, which tells a story of western life, according to the managers, that is far above the average of that class. "The Realization" is a Rex drama which is said to tell a pathetic story of life. Leon Maxey will sing the illustrated song, "Gee, But It's Great to Meet a Friend From Your Home Town."

"Wifie's Home Troubles" is the topic of a comic film which will be shown at the Palace theater tonight. Wilfles and his wife have a terrible quarrel at the breakfast table. Mrs. Wifles goes to mother and at first husband is happy. A man returns for her clothes, but overlooks some puffs. Mrs. Wifles can not appear without them and the resulting circumstances are pleasing. "The Test of Love" is an Edison drama. It is a great dramatic story in which the love of a blind ward for her guardian is given freely after her eyesight is restored due to his sacrifices and care. The guardian, being extremely ugly, fears that his ward whom he worships, will not love him when she once sees his monkey-like features, but he is surprised at the outcome.

CHAPTER XXII.

An Interrupted Interview.
Miss Christie MacLaire, attired in a soft lounging robe, her luxuriant hair wound simply about her head, forming a decidedly attractive picture, gazed with manifest dissatisfaction on the bare walls of her room, and then out through the open window into the comparative quiet street below. The bar-tender at the "Palace," directly opposite, business being slack, was leaning negligently in the doorway. His roving eyes caught the fair face framed in the window, and he waved his hand encouragingly. Miss Christie's brown eyes stared across at him in silent disgust, and then wandered again about the room, her foot tapping nervously on the rag carpet.

"It's my very last trip to this town," she said decisively, her red lips pressed tightly together.

Miss MacLaire had indeed ample reason to feel aggrieved over her reception. She had written to have the best apartment in the house reserved for her, and then, merely because she had later been invited out to Fort Hays, and was consequently a day behind in arrival, had discovered that another woman—a base impostor, actually masquerading under her name—had been duly installed in the coveted apartment. Driving in from the fort that morning, accompanied by two of the more susceptible junior officers, conscious that she had performed most artistic work the evening before in the spacious mess-hall, and feeling confident of comfortable quarters awaiting her, it had been something of a shock to be informed by the perturbed clerk that "15" was already occupied by another. "A lady what come in last night, and I naturally supposed it was you."

In vain Miss MacLaire protested, ably backed by the worshipful officers who still gallantly attended her; the management was obdurate. Then she would go up herself, and throw the Russy out. Indeed, too angry for bantering further words, Christie had actually started for the stairs, intending to execute her threat, when the perspiring Tommy succeeded in stopping her, by plainly blurring out the exact truth.

"Don't you ever do it," he insisted. "The marshal brought her in here, and fired a fellow out o' the room so as to give it to her. He'd clean out this house if we ran in a cold deck on a friend o' his."

"What do I care for what your marshal does?"

"But he's Bill Hickock, Miss, 'Wild Bill.'"

Miss MacLaire leaned back against the stair-rail, her eyes turning from Tommy to her speechless supporters. Slowly the truth seemed to penetrate her brain.

"Oh," she gasped at last. "Then—then what else can you give me?" The officers had long since departed, promising, however, to remain over in town and hear her again that night at the Trocadero, with hints as to a late supper; she had received a call from the manager of that most popular resort, and had rendered his life miserable by numerous demands; had passed half an hour practicing with the leader of the orchestra; but now was at last alone, tired, decidedly irritable, and still tempted to invade "15," and give that other woman a piece of her mind. Then some one rapped on the door. There was a decided accent of vexation in the voice

NASAL CATARRH

Mrs. E. Karberg Says it is Easy to Get Rid of.

"A bad case of catarrh was cured for me by the use of Hyomei. The trouble affected my head, nose and eyes, and was very annoying and disagreeable, and the cure, from the use of Hyomei, was very gratifying. Hyomei has from me a strong recommendation and endorsement."—Mrs. E. Karberg, 213 Kingsley St., Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16, 1908.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) cures catarrh, because it gets where the germs are, and destroys them. It is made of Australian eucalyptus, mixed with other healing astringents. When breathed over the irritated membrane, it gives relief in two minutes.

Used regularly for a few weeks it will build up and heal the germ infested membrane and drive out catarrh.

If you own a small Hyomei pocket inhaler, you can get a bottle of Hyomei at druggists everywhere, or at F. B. Johnson & Co. for only 50 cents. If you do not own a Hyomei inhaler, ask for a complete outfit, the price is $1.00. It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, croup or sore throat, or money back.

which bade the one outside enter, but the lady's mood changed swiftly as her brown eyes perceived standing in the doorway the erect form of Keith, the light from the window revealing clearly his strong face. The man stood hat in hand, bowing slightly, unable to comprehend why he should have been sent for, yet marvelling again at the remarkable resemblance between this woman and that other whom he had left at Fort Larned. As Miss MacLaire stood with back toward the window, she presented the same youthful appearance, the same slenderness of figure, the same contour of face.

"Miss Christie MacLaire?" he asked, as though in doubt.

"Yes," graciously, won instantly by the man's appearance and manner, "you wished to see me? Will you be seated?"

He crossed the narrow room to the stiff-backed chair indicated, and the lady sank negligently down into her own, resting her head against a pillow, and regarding him expectantly. He could view her now much more distinctly, observing the slight difference in age, the fuller lips, the darker shade of the hair, and the varied expression of the eyes. It was as if a different soul had looked forth from the same face. He had never before realized how little, apparently trifling, details marked the human countenance, and, embarrassed by her own scrutiny, his glance swept about the room. Misunderstanding this shifting of eyes, Miss Christie sought to place the man more at ease.

"The room is a perfect fright," she observed briskly, "but what can one expect in these mushroom towns. Really I had never been here before, or I shouldn't have come. They pay good money though for talent, and we all have to live, you know. Are—are you in professional work?"

He shook his head, smiling, somewhat perplexed at his reception. "Really I didn't suppose you were," she went on, "you don't look it. But there are so many who come to me to help them that I have grown suspicious of every stranger. May I ask why you desired to see me?"

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back for an Old One. How it Can Be Done in Rushville.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoots across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Residents would do well to profit by the following example.

Mrs. Henry Fisher, 307 W. Hendricks St., Shelbyville, Ind., says: "I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills about three years ago. At that time I was suffering from kidney trouble and backache and I felt miserable in every way. I had often heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and I finally procured a supply. The contents of two or three boxes gave me relief and I had no further trouble until recently when my back began to ache. I at once used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me as promptly as before. I have previously endorsed this remedy through the local papers and at this time I gladly confirm all I have said in its praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Another "suspicion" had taken possession of her mind, for the men of that section were never backward in exhibiting admiration, yet somehow this man did not seem exactly of that kind.

"I came merely because I was sent for, Miss MacLaire," he replied, his gray eyes once again upon her face. "Doctor Fairbairn gave me your message; I am Jack Keith."

She looked the complete astonishment she felt, sitting up in the chair, her eyes filled with questioning doubt.

"Doctor Fairbairn! My message! Surely you are mistaken? I know no one of that name, and have sent no message."

"You did not express a desire to see me?"

She laughed, exhibiting a row of white teeth. "Certainly not; not until this moment was I even aware of the existence of Mr. Jack Keith."

His own eyes smiled in response to challenge of hers.

"I can assure you the surprise was mine also," he hastened to inform her, now more at ease, as he grasped the situation. "I could not understand how I had become known to you, yet I pledge you my word the message was actually brought. Of course you may suspicion otherwise, for I have seen you on the stage, and being a normal man, have wished that I could devise some excuse for meeting you."

"Indeed!" her eye-brows slightly uplifted.

"Yes, I make that confession frankly, yet this call comes from no such desire. I had no question when I came, but what I had been sent for—you will believe this?"

"I suppose I must, yet it seems very peculiar," she replied, feeling convinced that he was a gentleman, and troubled as to what she had best do. "Yet now that you have discovered your mistake—"

"I hope to take advantage of the opportunity," he broke in firmly, leaning slightly forward. "May I ask you a question?"

"I could hardly prevent it, and really I do not know that I have anything to conceal."

"Then I will risk the effort—do you know a man named Hawley?"—Bartlett Hawley?"

Her eyes did not falter, although a red spot shot into her cheeks, and her lips pressed together.

"No; that is I have never met him," she acknowledged, just a little confused. "But I have received two letters signed by that name, and rather expected the gentleman would call upon me here in Sheridan during my engagement. Is that your mission? Were you sent by him? or are you Mr. Hawley?"

Keith Backed Into the Corner—His Hand in His Pocket.

"I disclaim all relation, Miss MacLaire, even friendship. You, of course, know who this individual is?"

"No," the short monosyllable was not encouraging. "His messages were of a business character."

"So I presumed, yet one likes to know something even of the person he does business with. I have been acquainted with Hawley for several years, and have never been aware of any honorable business he has ever engaged in. He is a professional gambler, known on the frontier as 'Black Bart'; last night he was running a faro game across there in the 'Palace.' I cannot help wondering what kind of business such a fellow could possibly have with you, Miss MacLaire."

The woman's eyes flashed, hardening in their brown depths.

"What right have you to ask?" she began indignantly. "I am capable of deciding my own affairs. As I have told you I have never met Mr. Hawley, but I am not to be influenced against him merely by the denunciation of an avowed enemy. He has written me of something he has discovered which is of deep personal interest to me, and has promised to tell me the details, as well as place within my hands certain necessary papers."

"I appreciate your feelings," he said gently, as she paused, "but would you mind telling me the nature of those papers?"

There was something in Keith's face which told of honesty, and inspired confidence. Miss MacLaire's worldly experience had given her deep insight into the character of men, and somehow, as she looked into the clear gray eyes, she felt impelled to answer, a vague doubt of the unknown Hawley in her mind.

"They—they were papers to establish identity. He had discovered them by accident; they have to do with an inheritance. Really that is all I know, for he wrote very briefly, stating it would be safer to confer with me personally—only I imagine there is a large sum involved."

"From whose estate?"

"My grandfather's."

"And his name was?"

"Why—why, Mr. Keith, actually I do not know. It may seem strange, but—but I cannot even tell the names of my parents; I cannot remember either my father or mother. Oh, I do not know why I should tell you all this! Who are you, really? Why do you ask me such questions?"

He leaned forward, touched by the woman's emotion.

"Miss MacLaire," he said gravely. "I am not prying into your life needlessly, but am endeavoring to serve you as well as others. Hawley may indeed possess papers of great value, but if so they were not found by accident, but stolen from the body of a murdered man. These papers may possibly refer to you, but if so Hawley himself does not believe it—he has simply chosen you to impersonate the right party because of your physical resemblance."

"Resemblance to whom?"

"To a young woman, a Miss Hope."

"But how do you know this? Why should you be interested? Are you a detective?"

"No, I am not a detective, but I cannot explain to you my interest. I am trying to serve you, to keep you from being drawn into a plot—"

"Rather to keep me from learning the truth, Mr. Jack Keith," she burst forth, rising to her feet indignantly. "You are here trying to prejudice me against Mr. Hawley. He is your enemy, and you have come to me stabbing him in the back for revenge. That is your interest. Well, I am going to see the man, and consider what he has to say. I don't care half so much about the money as I do to find out who I am. If he can throw any light on my early life, on my parentage, I shall be the happiest woman in the world. I am sorry I told you anything—but I am going to see him just the same. Perhaps he might tell me something about you."

They were both standing, the woman's eyes flashing angrily, defiantly, her hands clinched. Keith, realizing the false position into which he had drifted, hesitated to answer. He meant to tell her the whole story, and urge her to co-operate with him in learning the gambler's purpose. The woman impressed him as honest at heart, in spite of her life and environment; she was not one whom a swindler could easily dupe into becoming a tool.

"Miss MacLaire," he began, determined on his course, "listen to me for just a moment. I am—"

There was a rap at the door. The eyes of both turned that way, and then Keith backed slowly into the darkened corner beyond the window, his right hand thrust into the pocket of his coat. Miss MacLaire observed the movement, her lips smiling, a red flush on either cheek. Then she stepped across the room, and opened the door. Framed against the black background of the hall, his dark, rather handsome face clearly revealed as he fronted the window, his black, audacious eyes fixed appreciatingly upon the lady, stood "Black Bart" Hawley. He saw no one but her, realized no other presence, had no thought except to make a good impression. He was facing a beautiful woman, whom he sought to use, and he bowed low, hat in hand.

"Miss MacLaire," he said, pleasantly, "I trust you will pardon all that has occurred between us, and permit me to explain."

"I—I do not understand," she replied, puzzled by these unexpected words. "There has nothing occurred between us, I am sure, which requires explanation. Have we met before?"

The man smiled. Seeing the woman's face in the shadows he was still convinced she was the same he had last parted with on the Salt Fork. However, if she preferred to ignore all that, and begin their relations anew, it was greatly to his liking. It gave him insight into her character, and fresh confidence that he could gain her assistance. Anyhow, he was ready enough to play her game.

"Let us assume not," just the slightest trace of mockery in the tone, "and begin anew. At least, you will confess the receipt of my letters—I am Bartlett Hawley."

She cast a half-frightened glance toward Keith, and the man, following the direction of her eyes, perceived the presence of the other. His right leg went backward, his hand dropping to the belt, his form stiffening erect. Keith's voice, low but clear in the silence, seemed to cut the air.

"Not a motion, Hawley! I have you covered."

"Oh, gentlemen, please don't!"

"Have no fear, Miss MacLaire; this man and I will settle our difference elsewhere, and not in your presence." He stepped forth into the middle of the room, revolver drawn, but held low at the hip, his watchful eyes never deserting the gambler's face.

"Back up against the wall, Hawley," he commanded. "I hardly need to tell you how I shoot, for we, at least, have met before. Now, I'm going out, and leave you to your interview with Miss MacLaire, and I wish you happiness and success."

He moved across to the opening, keeping his face toward his adversary; then backed out slowly, closed the door with a snap, and sprang aside to avoid any possibility of a bullet crashing after him. No sound of movement from within reached his ears, however, and he walked silently to the head of the stairs.

FEAR OF WAR GONE.

Today we have no fear of war, famine, disease or failing resources. The advance in knowledge has guarded men against these evils, but it is none the less true that civilization must be extended to other regions and races or it will go down as it did at Rome. Prosperity checks the birth rate and promotes race suicide to such a degree that if new races cannot be raised to take the place of those dying out there will be decline in civilization to the level existing before the rise of Christianity.—Simon N. Patten.

ABSOLUTE CALM IN MEXICO CITY

All Classes Have Confidence In Madero.

RECOGNIZED AS THE RULER

President De La Barra and Cabinet Officers Confer With Liberator, and Not an Appointment Is Made Without His Counsel—Business Is Improving and Merchants Show Confidence in the New Democracy.

Mexico City, June 9.—In all circles an excellent impression was caused by the perfect order that prevailed in the city upon the arrival here of Francisco I. Madero. The people were expecting an outbreak and doubted the ability of the new government to preserve order without the assistance of the police and armed guards. The result is a victory for democracy. Madero's position is without question stronger than it has been at any time since his victory at Juarez. Even the opposition has been led to respect him and his men since the orderly reception of Wednesday.

President De La Barra and several of the cabinet ministers called on Madero to confer upon government matters. It is recognized that Madero is ex-officio ruler of the country, and no appointments are made without consulting him. He probably will leave soon to review the army in the south. He will immediately attempt to reorganize the states of Guerrero and Morales, and put the government there as well as elsewhere upon a sound and secure basis of peace.

Mexico City is full of Maderista soldiers, who are parading the streets afoot and on horseback, fully armed and with cartridge belts swung across their shoulders.

The soldiers have not been molested by the police. The condition of the city is that of absolute calm. Business has been improving for the past week. Merchants generally are inclined to believe that the worst is over and to show confidence in the new democracy.

TREASURE TROVE

San Franciscans Said to Have Unearthed Lost Millions.

San Diego, Cal., June 9.—If stories received from Salinas Cruz, Mexico, may be accepted as true, buried treasure the value of which is variously estimated at from $15,000,000 to $65,000,000 has been recovered by a party of searchers who left San Diego several weeks ago on the oil-burning steamer Eureka. The message reads: "Expedition a success in every way. Reach San Diego for oil next week. Meet us."

The treasure was hidden by the crew of a Chilean cruiser off the coast of Honduras more than a generation ago. The Eureka is commanded by Captain Burtiss and was about two weeks ago taken for a sixty-day charter by a party of San Franciscans. Their movements were so enshrouded in mystery that it was suspected the steamer was being chartered for a filibuster against Mexico. The expedition is said to have been backed by Harry Krelling, a San Francisco club man.

The map showing the location of the buried treasure was in the possession of a former resident of Honduras who tried for many years to attract capital to finance an expedition. He was unsuccessful up to the time he met Krelling some weeks ago.

RUN DOWN BY TRAIN

Officers and Their Prisoners Caught at Crossing and Four Killed.

Bluefield, W. Va., June 9.—Four persons were killed and one was probably fatally injured when the wagon in which they were riding was struck by a Norfolk & Western train. The dead are: Mrs. Martha Noel, James Payne, town constable; John Ashworth and Edward Jones. Charles Oades, a negro, was seriously injured. He is the only person who can tell of the accident, as the train crew knew nothing of the accident. Martha Noel and Oades had just been tried on a serious charge at a justice of the peace's office and both were found guilty. They were turned over to Constable Payne, who started for his home, where he was to keep the prisoners for a day, when they were run down by the train. Ashworth and Jones were helping Payne guard the prisoners.

Philadelphia Strike Growing.

Philadelphia, June 9.—Following the example of 2,200 boilermakers who went on strike at the Baldwin Locomotive works, members of other unions left their posts, and it is said that 7,500 workmen have quit work. The discharge of five members of a committee selected by the boilermakers to urge the reinstatement of a man who had been laid off precipitated the strike.

Startling Story of Crime.

St. Petersburg, June 9.—A criminal who murdered an officer of the army and the officer's wife at Sebastopol was arrested at Tsaritsyn and now says that he has in the course of his career killed fifty-seven persons.

"RED" LOPEZ
"He Tried to Escape," Reported the Guards.

Cananea, Mexico, June 9.—"Red" Lopez, who was ordered imprisoned by Francisco I. Madero, jr., on the charge that he had "sold out" to American interests while in command of the section of the insurgent garrison at Agua Prieta, has been put to death. "He tried to escape," reported the guards who were taking him to prison.

MEXICO QUAKE THE WORST SINCE 1882

Greater Part of the Republic Was Affected.

Mexico City, June 9.—Although this city suffered worse than any other place, the earthquake that visited Mexico City Wednesday extended over the greater part of the republic. Guadalajara reports that Tonila, a small town on the slope of Colima, a volcanic mountain, was completely destroyed, but the number of killed is not given. Most of the inhabitants, warned by the slight shakes that preceded the heavy shock, fled from the town before the buildings tumbled down. The cathedral was completely destroyed. There were few accidents to persons at Guadalajara and no one was killed.

Passengers arriving here from Guadalajara report that Zapotlan, a small town near Colima, was destroyed and that fifty-nine bodies were taken from the ruins.

The states of Guerrero and Morales, which usually suffer greatly from earthquakes, were only slightly affected by the shocks. The director of the Geological Institute declares that the quake was the worst since 1882.

THE BOARD BROKE

Three Little Boys Precipitated Into River and Drowned.

Piedmont, W. Va., June 9.—Harold and Donald Albright, aged five and ten, only children of Dow Albright of this place, and Clement Ott, aged eight, of Grafton, W. Va., who was visiting relatives here, were drowned in the Potomac river. The boys, with several companions, were thrown into the river by the breaking of a board against which they were resting. The water is high and swift, and it may be weeks before the bodies are found.

OUTDOOR POOR RELIEF IS LESS

Gratifying Showing Is Made In Indiana.

GENERAL REDUCTION NOTED

State Board of Charities Makes Report of Expenditures of Township Trustees During the Past Year, Which Shows a Decided Falling Off in the Demands For Relief to the Needy.

Indianapolis, June 9.—In sixty-one of the ninety-two counties, the sums expended by township trustees in 1910 for outdoor poor relief to persons who are not inmates of public institutions, were less than the amounts expended in the preceding year, according to figures compiled by the board of state charities showing expenditures. Of these counties nineteen showed decreases of more than $500. The amount expended in the state in the year for needy or such poor relief was $13,786.15 less than for the preceding year.

The total amount expended was $266,181.16. In fifty townships no aid was given, twenty-three of this number having made a like record for the preceding year. In 440 townships the aid given amounted to less than $100; in 402 townships the amounts were between $100 and $500.

One of the interesting reports was received from Vincennes township, Knox county, where Vincennes is situated. In that township an increase of $4,881.04 was noted, the total amount expended being $8,467.38. The township trustee attributed the increase to a large number of cases of sickness, and to a large number of indigent persons "shipped in" from other townships.

THEY BOTHERED HER

Michigan City, Ind., June 9.—Miss Catherine Barker, daughter of the late John H. Barker, Michigan City car manufacturer who died recently, leaving her an estate of $30,000,000, has left for New York to take passage for Europe.

It is said by friends of Miss Barker that her European trip has been planned to enable her to live away from the public gaze for a time. Miss Barker's mail has been flooded with offers of marriage from nearly every country in the world, while fully 5,000 letters have been received pleading for financial aid. She is constantly being sought by alleged noblemen with more or less tarnished titles.

$1,000 IS ADDED TO EARLHAM FUND

Two Indianapolis Contributors Increase Number of $500 Pledges to Ten.

TOTAL SOARS TO $33,903 TODAY

Few More of That Sort Are Needed to Insure Success of the Campaign.

Indianapolis has again carried off high honors in the Earlham debt campaign, two men living there having added $500 each to the fund today. This makes an increase of $1,000, and sends the total from $32,903 to $33,903.

Contributions of this size have formed a good foundation for the fund as it now stands. The search for "$500 men" has been consistent and earnest, for $500 pledges send the fund skyward rapidly. A sprinkling of these large pledges is necessary to balance up the smaller ones, including the two subscriptions today, there have been ten $500 pledges during the present campaign, these ten men thus contributing $5,000. A few more are needed now to assure the success of the weeks of effort. Every canvasser is on the lookout for men who have the means to make a gift of this size to a worthy cause. The canvassers have all the argument on their side, and need only the opportunity to present it.

Morton C. Pearson, chairman of the campaign committee, is sending daily messages of encouragement and direction to his large force of canvassers. Now that the last days of the campaign have arrived he is determined to strike harder and more persistently than ever. His declaration every day is, "We need every dollar that we can get to make this campaign a success." He knows what is needed and the responsibility for success is centered in him.

Chocolate Cake

The best results are obtained by using sour milk and soda, if the correct amount of soda is used. Too much will cause the cake to fall when baking or crumble when cut.

If good butter and a high grade of chocolate are used and the cake is not scorched in baking, there are few cakes to equal the good, old-fashioned chocolate cake or "Devil's Food."
